What the testers said: "The hip carrier is a very clever idea and quite comfortable to wear. It is a really effective way of carrying a heavy child in your arms without having to take the huge weight with your upper body. I have even carried my three-and-a-half year old in it and she loved it! It can be useful around the house as well as outdoors - very useful in places where pushchairs are not allowed.

I have enjoyed the experience and would recommend the Easy Rider to parents. I do believe it's quite expensive, but otherwise a very good product."
